Reducing Household Hazardous Waste

Many common household products are hazardous. When these products are discarded, they become “household hazardous waste.” Proper handling and disposal of household hazardous waste will help lessen danger to human health and the environment.

“What You Can Do” -- Ways to lessen the impact of household hazardous waste:

- Reduce the amount of hazardous products that you purchase. Buy only the amount you need.
- Reuse the materials that you have on hand.
- Recycle your waste and dispose properly at collection sites.
- Choose safer, less toxic alternative products.
- Stop by the MCB Hawaii Household Reuse Room, building 6409 before purchasing household hazardous materials.
- Donate useable hazardous materials to the MCB Hawaii Household Reuse Room for others to use.
- Common accepted items: Car and house cleaning supplies, oils, paints, pesticides, BBQ grill propane tanks, etc.
